POINTED PARAGRAPHS FROM CRUMBS SWEPT UP.—Have at least one book in your library in which all the good children did not die. My early impression from Sunday school books was that religion was very unhealthy. It seemed a terrible distemper that killed every boy or girl it touched. If I found myself some day better than common, I corrected the mistake for fear I should die, although it was the general opinion that I was not much in danger from over sanctity. But I do believe that children may have religion and yet live through it. A strong mustard-plaster and a teaspoonful of peace will do marvels. Timothy lived to grow up, and we are credibly informed that little Samuel woke. Indeed, the best boys I ever saw occasionally upset things, and got boisterous and had fidgets.

Let there be some one to set a tuft of mignonette by every sick man's pillow, and plant a fuschia in every working-man's yard, and place a geranium in every sewing girl's window, and twine a cypress about every poor man's grave, and, above all, may there come upon us the blessing of him whose footsteps the mosses mark, and whose breath is the redolence of flowers. Between these loaves I press thee, "O Lily of the Valley."

The world has learned that a thing is not necessarily good because it is dry. There is no religion in chips. We never could see any sanctity in husks.

A country village affords no retreat. There everybody knows everybody's business. You cannot raise half a dozen goslings without having them stoned for picking off your neighbor's gooseberries. Gossip wants no better heaven than a small village. Everybody knows whether this morning, out of the butcher's cart, you bought mutton or calf's liver, and the mason's wife, at the risk of breaking her neck rushes down stairs to exclaim. Just think of it! Mrs. Stuckup has bought a sirloin steak, and she is no better than other people! They always ask what you gave for a thing, and say you were cheated had something of a better quality they could let you have for half the money. We have at different times lived in a small village, and many of our best friends dwell there, but we give as our opinion that there are other places more favorable for a man's getting to heaven.

REPUBLICAN REUNION IN MISSOURI.—The two committees of the wings of the Republican party of St. Louis county re-assembled, yesterday afternoon at the 'Liberal Republican Headquarters, on Market street,' and harmoniously organized as a single committee of the party in the county. This is the result of the unanimous action of each committee. It is but the formal recognition of the virtual union of all sincere and sensible Republicans of the county, who as well as those in the State at large, have not been able to discover any material ground for difference since the late campaign. However politicians may be moved the people are only influenced by principle, and the masses of Republicans saw nothing left to quarrel about after the enfranchisement question was disposed of.

If there are varieties of opinion on matters of tariff finance, etc., they are nothing to the hostility of vital principle between Republican and Democrat. Would the latter cease his war upon the safety, peace and prosperity of the country as guaranteed by the reconstruction, new parties could form. But as that is a moral impossibility, this is physically impossible.

The Democratic party has a mission, which it has been gloriously and successfully prosecuting for at least a quarter of a century and which is not yet finished. It is to keep the party of progress, civilization and good government united and victorious. General Blair well understands this, and faithfully discharges his duty as a Democrat, fighting "wiser than he knows," when he declares that the questions "of paramount importance to the country" are those "involved in the Reconstruction acts," and sagaciously adds: "I do not undervalue the great advantages to the people of low taxes and a sound system of finance but these are only incidents to the great question beyond, as to the Government itself." This is good doctrine.

MR. SEWARD IN CHINA.—The London Globe, one of the spiciest of English exchanges in commenting on Seward's trip to China, playfully says: "He has been stoned by beggar boys at Hankow, he has been received with great courtesy by the officials of the Pekin Foreign Office, and has penetrated as far north as the Great Wall. With true American instincts he chose this last named his terse position wherein to write a letter (which has since been published) to the American Admiral, thanking him for his civility in having 'gallantly attended' him 'over the stormy Yellow Sea, up the tortuous Peiho river, and over the plains, through the city of Pekin, to the Great Wall, from which,' he adds, 'I have been able to look down southward upon the decay power of China, and northward upon the aboriginal region of the North Pacific coast of the Asiatic Continent.' This would do honor to the pen of Mr. Jefferson Brick himself. What is the meaning of an aboriginal region? Are not all regions aboriginal? And how in the name of all that is geographical, could Mr. Seward, facing northward from the longitude of Pekin, look upon the aboriginal or any other region of the North Pacific coast? We can forgive a man and especially an American, for being stirred into grandiloquence by finding himself face to face with such a monument of antiquity as the Great Wall of China, and a Foreign Secretary for displaying ignorance of geography, but we cannot accept any position as an excuse for the production of such intricate English as the above. Mr. Seward concludes his letter by saying 'I shall come short of my duty if I shall not be able to improve this great experience for the benefit of our country and mankind, from which we gather that he is going to write a book. We hope that before doing so, he will have recovered his English, and will have enlarged his somewhat limited stock of geographical knowledge.'

KEEPING HAMS.—Have a sack made of cheap muslin or domestic, somewhat longer than is required to merely hold the ham. Then gather some broom sedge and chop it finely in your cutting box or if you happen to be minus such a contrivance, chop it with a hatchet or axe. Place a few handfuls of this in the bottom of your sack and then having wrapped a newspaper nicely around your ham slide it upon the chopped sedge. Proceed next to fill up the sack by ramming your chopped sedge tightly around the ham on all sides—the size of the sack should allow of its being an inch thick. Sew or tie it up and the work is done.

Hams put up in this way will keep for years through all kinds of weather, for the sedge is cooling in its effect it absorbs the moisture attracted by the salt it has on the fly. We take it that straw or thoroughly dried grass of almost any kind would act though we have no experience with anything save broom sedge.

THE MAN IN THE MOON.—It is well known that objects seventy two feet long can be distinctly seen on the surface of the moon by the great telescopes of the Earl of Ross and Lord Oxmanton. Accordingly to Madler however it would require instruments ten times more powerful to distinguish a "man in the moon," providing such an object existed. Mechanical ingenuity ought surely to bridge that chasm, for in so doing it would have made a grand stride towards the solution of many recondite problems in connection with our near neighbor Mars which appears so much like a slightly smaller earth.

EASTERN DATES TO MARCH 23.

EUROPE.

Affairs in Paris.

VERSAILLES, March 23.—It is reported that the people in Paris have assassinated Gen. Raphael.

The proclamation to the people of France approved by the Assembly and issued by President Thiers yesterday, after reviewing the situation, closes as follows: "France repudiates the movement. Do not fear our weakness or believe false representations. We shall maintain our trust and make no compromise with the guilty."

All remains quiet at Lyons, but precautions have been taken against an outbreak. The Prefect of Lyons has issued a proclamation declaring his adhesion to the Assembly. The proclamation is well received.

By order of the Swiss Council the soldiers of the French army who entered Switzerland who are provided with railway tickets or money for their fare are permitted to return to France.

The Government has requested the Germans not to bombard Paris lest the innocent may suffer.

Gen. Cremieux has been summoned to Versailles where he will be tried for disobedience of orders.

No Further Bloodshed.

PARIS, March 22—10 P. M.—There has been no further bloodshed since 6 o'clock.

Armed insurgents have been reinforced.

The city is gloomy, and the excitement is intense.

The Nationals, under orders of the Central Republican Committee, occupied Fort Vincennes unopposed, the garrison fraternizing with them as soon as they appeared.

Troops in several arrondissements are organizing in the interest of order.

Deputy Clemenceau has incurred the displeasure of the insurgents, and been expelled from office by the Mayor.

General Cisneret has installed himself at the Ministry of War.

The insurgents' official journal announces the nomination of Lullier as General of the Nationals.

Colonel Ludre has been appointed [delegate] Minister of War, and Saugtier [delegate] Minister of Foreign Affairs.

General Chanzy is still a prisoner.

WASHINGTON CITY.

Congressional.

WASHINGTON, March 23.—In the Senate, Sumner contended that the resolutions of the Senate under the rulings of the Vice President yesterday, were not excluded from consideration, and therefore asked leave to present a resolution which he forwarded to the Secretary.

Conkling objected on the ground that all resolutions were prohibited under the rules.

A general discussion ensued upon this point, during which Sumner proceeded to read the resolution he had offered. He was interrupted in reading his resolution, by Conkling who raised a point of order, and the discussion occupied the remainder of the morning hour, when the regular order of business (Sherman's resolution instructing the Judiciary Committee to report a bill to suppress Kuklux outrages) came up.

Scott proceeded to deliver a speech in support of the resolution and in favor of protective legislation for the Southern loyalists. Upon the conclusion of his remarks, the message of the President in reference to the condition of affairs in the South was received and ordered printed.

In the House the Speaker presented a message from the President earnestly recommending such legislation as will secure peace and security of life and property in certain parts of the South.

It is understood the President will recommend legislation transferring jurisdiction from State to Circuit Courts in certain cases, with a view of insuring prompt justice against the perpetrators of certain crimes.

Shellabarger moved the appointment of a special committee of nine to whom to refer the President's message, saying he wanted a day fixed for the consideration of the subject.

A lively discussion followed the House adopting Shellabarger's resolution. The Speaker announced the special committee as follows: Shellabarger of Ohio, Butler of Massachusetts, Schofield of Pennsylvania, Dawes of Massachusetts, Blair of Michigan, Kerr of Indiana, Morgan of Ohio, and Withrow of Tennessee, five Republicans and four Democrats.

SENATORIAL SWILLERS.—With Senator Saulsbury will vanish one of the most memorable faces and forms of the Senate. On the Democratic side of the Senate he is the grand figure head which Charles Sumner is on the Republican. Not to see Saulsbury, with his hands deep in his pockets, glowering up and down behind the last tier of senatorial chairs, restive and defiant as a caged lion, with his pale, trim, temperate brother "Eli" in his seat, will be to see a new Senate. To look upon, he is a great lecturne man, noble to behold, though he does chew tobacco and mock with strong drink. I have seen him at a street corner exchanging "chews" on terms of perfect hail-fellow equality with one of the despised race, which he raged over the next day in the Senate as very little above that of the baboon. I have seen him empty his pockets in the gutter and then drop down and lie in it, and have seen him one of the grandest looking of grand men, clad in spotless black and faultless linen, walking beside Mrs. Jefferson Davis on a fair June Sabbath (which her husband spent at Fortress Monroe) gallantly and devoutly carrying her prayer book to church. He stands more than six feet high, and is large in proportion. His head is covered with abundant black hair, just touched with silver. He has black eyes and finely cut features, and when he is himself a most winning expression. In early life he studied for the Episcopal ministry, and even now, when he assumes the "white choker," as he often does looks like one. With him and Richard Yates, the 4th of March, depart the last but one of the inebriate senators. 'There may be plenty of drunkern' left, but of drunkards' I believe but one in the Senate of the United States. 'Poor Dick Yates' as his brethren so often called him. Probably never did living man battle harder than he had done with an over mastering appetite. An inherited one, born in his blood, no one not thus cursed can dream of the power of such a foe, nor judge by right the sin of the soul that at last make vanquished. Brave generous and child-hearted—as the victim of the wine cup so often is—Illinois loved this her favorite son loved him for himself, and for all that he had done for his native State, trusted him born with him trusted him again—even when, through weakness of the will, he had betrayed her faith. How he struggled to be worthy of that trust in the highest legislative council of the nation, only he knows and his God. But there came an hour when it was too late, when the affection, intellect and will went down forever before the inflate foe and Richard Yates but the wreck of himself to-day treading in his seat counts the days when his place will be filled by another.—Brooklyn Union.

A Michigan lady in the course of a long and sensible letter on the question of woman's rights, says: "When wives assume the headship God gave to husbands, they bring on a curse command, and the punishment follows. They lose to a great extent their gentle womanly graces, and grow bold and masculine and in the same proportion husbands become feminine and timid and of all pitiable objects on the face of the earth is a hen pecked husband is the worst and in a short time these wives become dissatisfied with their sheepish looking husbands, and many of them seek for more manly companions and a life of sin and terrible retribution is the result."

A Detroit merchant, having discharged a porter, is receiving semi weekly epistles from him pleasantly informing him that the exporter is bound to murder you at the first favorable chance—both is on your trail.

LAST NIGHT'S DISPATCHES.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

The French Assembly.

LONDON, March 24.—In the French Assembly, yesterday, the Government proposed a law for the organization of volunteers, which was adopted. Every department is to send to Versailles a battalion immediately.

A proposition for a committee of fifteen to proceed to Paris to assist in restoring order, was favorably considered.

Berlin Dispatches.

BERLIN, March 23.—In the Reichsrath, Simpson was elected President, Prince Hohenlohe Vice President, and Weber Second Vice President.

The Spanish election for Deputies resulted in 50 Carlists, 41 Republicans, 15 Moderates, 10 Montpensierists, and 230 Ministerialists. The Senate stands 132 Ministerialists and 11 opposition.

Later from Paris.

LONDON, March 23.—Schlottleutz, the Prussian commander, in a dispatch at Paris, says the Germans now occupy the northern and eastern forts and maintain a friendly attitude. If the terms of preliminaries are overstepped Paris will be treated as an enemy. The Delegates on Foreign Affairs replied that the revolution was purely municipal and not aggressive, and they had no jurisdiction to discuss the preliminaries voted by the Assembly at Bordeaux.

The Officiel Journal threatens that writers attacking the insurgents shall be brought before the Central Committee.

Officials not returning to their posts before the 25th will be discharged.

The Debats is bold, and published an article by Lemoinne strongly attacking the National Government.

Laysset was present with the friends of order yesterday, but was not wounded.

The Debats says some of the insurgents fired on each other and several were wounded.

Henry Pene, editor of the Paris Le Matin has been shot in the side. His life is despaired of.

The Nationals have determined to incorporate the soldiers of Paris with the Nationals.

The Revolutionary Committee have issued a proclamation postponing the election until energetic measures are taken and rights respected.

At a meeting of the mayors and deputies, Saysset was made Commander in Chief of the National Guard, and Langlors Chief of Staff. The appointment of Saysset has inspired confidence among the friends of order.

The Belleville Nationals have occupied the Mairie and the first arrondissement after long negotiations with the Nationals of Quartier, with whom a number of Zouaves and Mobiles of the line were seen. The latter demanded arms to fight the insurgents, who have barricaded Place Vendome.

WASHINGTON CITY.

General News.

WASHINGTON, March 23.—It is expected that the nomination to fill the vacancy in the office of Minister to Brazil, caused by the resignation of Mr. Blow, will be made in a few days. The Southern Republicans in Congress have united in recommending Judge Hoge, member of the last Congress, from South Carolina. Ex Senator Thayer of Nebraska, is also a prominent candidate.

The San Domingo Commissioners will probably arrive at Charleston to-night. They may be expected in this city Sunday or Monday. Their report will be sent to Congress as soon as submitted to the President.

Sumner will undoubtedly attempt to present to the Senate to-day his resolution arraigning the President for his course in regard to San Domingo, and the question will be whether under authority of Anthony the resolution on this subject can come in. The Vice President will probably submit the question of reception to the Senate for its decision, as it affects so closely the rights to do business.

CALIFORNIA.

From San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 24.—The jury in the Fourth District Court, in the case of Dennis Gunn, indicted for killing Edward J. Murphy, on Pine street, on the evening of December 21st, after being ably addressed by Campbell and Murphy for the defense, and District Attorney Byrne for the people, went out at 5 P. M. Before six they returned, and, on the Judge being found and brought in, they were asked for their verdict. The foreman replied "not guilty," when the entire audience sprang to their feet and joined in a tumult of cheering which could not be repressed for some time, despite the efforts of the Judge Clerk and Bailiff. Mr. Murphy then moved that the defendant be discharged, which order was immediately given and the crowd rushed after him to the door, where the cheering was renewed and continued down to the street. The evidence shows conclusively that Murphy was a man of the vilest character, having three wives living, that he had boasted of having seduced Gunn's sister under promise of marriage, and that Gunn shot him immediately after his sister had confessed the truth of the charge, and while in a state of terrible excitement. The verdict of acquittal was a foregone conclusion, nevertheless the excitement in the court room was painfully intense, until it was announced, when everybody present, even some of the officers of the court, appeared for a moment to have gone mad with delight. The verdict appears to give universal satisfaction.

It is positively announced that the widow of Horace Hawes will refuse to receive the allowance of two thousand five hundred dollars per annum which he made for her in his will, and will contest the validity of both will and deed of foundation of Mount Eagle University, on the ground of his insanity.

The Daily Oregonian.

SATURDAY MORNING, MARCH 25, 1871.

Not to be Forgotten.

Everybody knows that the Democratic majority of the Legislature at the recent session devoted all their time and energies to the elaboration of plans and measures to enable a favored few to make money at the expense of the many, to give grabbers of all degrees a chance to seize the property of the State, to provide large fees and perquisites for State officials, in direct violation of the Constitution, and in various ways to aggrandize and enrich mercenary leaders and followers. It is only necessary to instance what was done for the swamp land grabbers, for the school fund plunderers, for the canal and locks company, to whom the sum of $75,000 was given in excess of the amount which would have insured the construction of the works at Wallamet Falls, and for the Secretary and Treasurer of State for whom exorbitant fees were provided directly in the face of the provision of the Constitution which says they shall receive no fees for performing any of the duties connected with their respective offices. The "State organ" also had its own mercenary ends in view, and its proprietors were engaged during the session in working up bills for their own private advantage, which they succeeded in lobbying through. Recent developments show that the "organ" refrained from condemning the most objectionable acts of the Legislature in order that its proprietors might be enabled to work their own measures of plunder through that body. They constantly instructed their editor to commit the paper against others' measures, lest their own schemes should thereby be opposed. The whole session was a continuous scramble for profitable jobs; the plunderers undertook to make a dividend of the swamp lands and other property among themselves; to help other thieves forward an excessive subsidy was voted to the canal and locks company; the Herald got for its share the litigant bill, the profits of "gross frauds" in the State printing, and several thousand dollars for printing session laws where only one hundred was necessary, besides the $500 by private arrangement the State officers obtained largely increased compensation, and the real interests of the country got no attention at all. This is the record of the last Legislature. We intend to keep it before the people. Not one point herein can be denied. Every one has been proved by Democratic testimony and by the public acts of the Legislature. And the plundering schemes of the last session will be nothing to those of the next, if the same party again controls the Legislative Assembly.

Oregon Glaciers.

Some weeks ago we published a note from Mr. Edmund T. Coleman, on the subject of Glaciers on the Pacific." Mr. Coleman in that note referred to an article then just published at the East, in which it was stated that Mr. Clarence King and his associates in their explorations last summer on Mounts Shasta, Rainier and Hood claimed to have made the first discovery of glaciers within the territory of the United States, Alaska excepted. This claim Mr Coleman begged leave, with due deference, to deny, and referred to his account of a glacier upon Mount Baker, Washington Territory published in Harper's Magazine for November, this journey of observation to Mount Baker was made in 1858 two years before the explorations of Mr Clarence King and his associates. Mr. Coleman added in his note: "Wherever there are immense snow fields on a great mountain, there are glaciers at the foot, because they can only be found and fed by vast reservoirs of snow in the upper portion of the mountain, which geologists term neve."

We are led to refer to this matter again by seeing in the March number of the American Journal of Science a communication from Mr. King, "on the discovery of glaciers on the mountains of the Pacific slope," made by him and his party last year. A New Haven paper, referring to this article says: "There is no doubt that this is the first publication of anything of the kind, since the fact of the non-existence of glaciers in this country was communicated on only a few months since in the well known English scientific paper, Nature. Mr. Coleman's article in Harper's Magazine above alluded to, disproves this claim. But the question may arise whether these fields of neve described first by him and afterwards by Mr. King are true glaciers. Professor Le Conte, to the last named writer they have neither crevasses nor any other evidences of movement, hence they could hardly be called true glaciers in the scientific sense of the term. At a recent meeting of the Connecticut Academy of Science at New Haven Dr. Gibbs, geologist to the Northern Pacific railroad exploration under Gen. I. I. Stevens, and also to the N. W. boundary commission, spoke of having seen in the Cascade mountains large fields of neve, but did not think they were entitled to the name of active glaciers. This subject may become an interesting one for geologists, and seems likely to evoke much discussion.

Murder and Pillage.

In our telegraphic columns yesterday we printed a message from President Grant to Congress in which the necessity of stringent legislation against the Southern Ku Klux was strongly urged. To show that the state of things therein set forth is by no means imaginary we copy the following from the London Courier-Journal, the leading Democratic paper of the South in regard to the ruffian deeds that now threaten the very foundations of society in half a dozen States:

> They have usurped the powers of Government, made murder their pastime and terrorism their code, conferred upon their adherents the right of private vengeance and assumed to protect them from the penalties of outraged law. No home is safe, no place is sacred from their invasions. To show their strength and their utter contempt for all departments of the State Government, they, in the vicinity of the capital during the brief session of the legislative session with deeds of blood, and carry their lawless violence with insulting defiance to the very doors of our legislative halls.

This is in Kentucky. In several other States it is even worse. The proof is overwhelming that in many localities there is security for neither lives nor property of Union men. Hence the President's urgent appeal to Congress for adequate legislation to put this organized ruffianism down.

A Preference for Calumny.

The Herald thinks fit to publish this tirade of vituperation and falsehood:

> Nearly every other President left the office [illegible] using it alone for his own benefit, [illegible] immensely rich. Among the most [illegible] for personal aggrandizement [illegible] the annexation of San Domingo. It is [illegible] Horse, if possible, Congress to purchase the island, by which he, as secret partner in sundry rings, which through Baez have become possessed of large tracts of land, would be made millionaires. In other words, Grant is now doing his utmost to have the people of this Government pay for San Domingo, that he and a few other speculators may be made immensely rich.

It has been but two or three days since the Herald published from the report of the San Domingo Commission a refutation of these villainous slanders and falsehoods, which were at first set afloat by journals as unscrupulous as itself. Of course, however, those who prefer to deal in calumny and detraction at the expense of truth, will take every opportunity to do so.

Every Democratic journal in the State has denounced Secretary May for drawing warrants when there was no appropriation to pay them. But not one of those papers has yet been honest enough to state that Secretary Chadwick has drawn warrants under precisely similar circumstances. The Herald once flatly denied it, but we proved the falsity of the denial, and that paper has since kept silence.

OREGON.

The debt of Baker county is $17,673.

The Enterprise notes a considerable rise in the value of property at Milwaukie.

S. A. Pilcher of Albany, was arrested and fined $50 a few days ago for assault and battery on the person of his wife.

A society called the Yamhill Farmers' Club has been organized at McMinnville. The object of the club is to discuss practical matters in agriculture.

The second session of the Yamhill County Teachers' Association will be held at Amity, commencing on Thursday, the 30th day of March, 1871, continuing three days.

At the quarterly meeting of the M. E. Church, held at Oak Grove School House, near Eugene City, March 4th and 5th, fifteen persons joined the church, and about the same number were converted.

From the Statesman: Some of our Salem merchants have heard in mercantile circles lately, in San Francisco, that in a few weeks there would be an opposition line of steamers running between that place and Portland.

The Dallas Republican states that according to the report of N. Garwood, Clerk of Dallas School District, there are in the District 233 scholars drawing school funds, 112 female and 121 males, an increase over last year of 33.

The Oregon City paper reports that Mr. O. W. Cook, who returned by last steamer from California, brought with him twelve fine blooded Cashmere goats. These goats are regarded very valuable for their fine coat of pure white wool.

The Sentinel states that for some weeks past the land fever has been running high in Jackson county. Homesteads, pre-emptions, private entries and school lands, have been the prevailing theme among the speculating men of the country.

We hear that quite a number of the old settlers on the South Yamhill river, are selling their farms and buying cattle with which they will emigrate to Willow Creek and Owhoco valleys, Eastern Oregon, as soon as the season is sufficiently advanced.

A night or two ago at Salem, a man, John Dillon, severely cut another named Monroe Panter with a razor. One cut across the skull, a slash on the cheek and another in the hand were the injuries received. The quarrel grew out of a game of cards.

A gentleman from the Dalles informs us that a few days since Dr. Mitchell, of that place, sold thirteen head of imported cattle, young and old, for three thousand dollars coin. A couple of these were the young bulls exhibited last year at the State Fair. This is another significant fact in favor of raising fine blood stock.

The Baker City Democrat learns that C. W. Durkee, of Express ranch, has just completed the survey of a ditch for mining purposes, which will tap Burnt river well up in the canyon, and run down that stream some eight or ten miles, and supply water to a large number of rich bar claims.

From the Enterprise: The P. T. Company will build two new boats this season, one to take the place of the Alert and the other that of the Reliance. Both boats are to be built after Capt. Kellogg's model, 150 feet long, having a tonnage of 250 tons. They will be the largest boats the Company have, and also the fastest as well as the most handsomely finished.

The Albany Democrat has this: The Santiam coal mines are proving better than was first supposed. The miners have excavated until they have struck a vein of solid coal 28 inches thick which seems to penetrate the mountain to an unlimited depth. We have a specimen recently taken from the vein which is fully up to any Pittsburg coal ever taken out. The Santiam Coal Mining Company, who own these mines, have several practical miners at work, and are now taking out coal in considerable quantities.

The following mining intelligence is from the Baker county paper: A great deal of prospecting is being done on Burnt river. Every day brings fresh arrivals; and every day new strikes are made. Swazey & Co. are making four and five dollars per day drifting. Their mode of getting the pay dirt is very slow. Stillman, Gordon & Co. are making preparations for sluicing. They have an excellent claim. Mr. Bush has almost completed a ditch, which is about one mile in length. While he was constructing a dam across Burnt river, three sturdy, old beavers worked every night; and if there were any holes left in the dam by the men, the beavers mended them and made it tight and strong. Basey & Smith have constructed a breast-wheel, which raises three hundred inches of water twenty-one feet; and the ditch will cover a large bar that will give employment to three or four large companies for years to come. Messrs. Eastabrooks & Wood also have a wheel in the river which will raise a sluice-head of water, being a paddle-wheel and raising the water twenty-one feet. Mr. Kelley's claim pays well, yielding as it has done one dollar to the pan. Several others are also getting ready to take out the precious metal.

THE TERRITORIES.

Edwin Eells of Walla Walla has been appointed Indian Agent for Washington Territory.

Some days ago David Leadroute was killed near the Jocko Agency, Montana. He was chopping wood, and in attempting to dislodge a fallen tree was caught in the branches and crushed.

A mining blast of 125 kegs of powder was exploded near Idaho City a few days ago. A large section of the hill was upheaved and received a tremendous shaking up. The blasting system will be adopted generally in the deep diggings in that locality.

Here is the latest report from the Montana Indians: There is a complaint among the Indians of Montana, because the Government allows them one pair of pants and one pair of socks a year. They can adapt themselves to the pants by cutting off the legs and waist, but think one pair of socks a year is an insult. Indians say when they draw their supplies, "Great Father heap d——n fool!"

Mr. J. D. Biles permits us to copy the following from a letter from Capt. Wm. Kelly of the 8th U. S. Cavalry, dated Fort Bayard, New Mexico, Feb. 20, 1871: "I have just returned from a scout after Indians that had stolen animals from the miners, 12 miles from here. I followed them with 21 men of my troop and seven citizens, and got them in their camp in the Chiricahua mountains at 1 P. M. on Sunday, the 12th inst, killed 11 of them, including their chief, and destroyed a large quantity of Indian goods, 2,500 pounds of beef, mule and horse meat, 17 buts composed of skins and hides. We got a priest's gown (they killed the priest before—some two years ago), Mexican blankets, shawls, domestic calico, guns, pistols, lances, bows and arrows, etc. We had trailed them from 2:30 P. M., Feb. 5, to 1 P. M., Feb. 12. Got home and had a grand reception, a salute of 15 guns." The letter further details the rejoicings of the citizens in the vicinity over the victory.

A Berlin journal describes Wm. H. Russell of the London Times as an Irishman of 55, combining the sullen gravity of the Englishman with the testy turbulence of the Celtic race.

POLITICAL NOTES.

At the charter election held in Portland, Me., on the 6th inst., Kingsbury (Rep.) received 2,240 votes, Emery (Dem.) 1,948, and scattering 41, giving Kingsbury a majority of 291 votes. The Republican majority last spring was 209.

The Republican Convention of Michigan, which was held a few days ago, adopted resolutions declaring that the Republican party had proved a good party in time of war and is proving a good party in time of peace; and that it had full faith in the wisdom, prudence and ability of President Grant, especially pointing with pleasure and pride to the reduction of taxation and the national debt.

The following dispatch from Memphis, March 6, is a specimen of the manner in which affairs are reported from the South in which Union men are concerned: At Meridian, Miss., this evening while Justice Bramlette was trying a negro for riotous conduct at a fire on Saturday night, a disturbance occurred in the court room, and a negro, named Tyler, shot Bramlette, killing him instantly. Tyler and two other negroes were killed by the citizens. Everything is now quiet.

The latest move in the Tammany game to debauch the ballot-box and govern New York by the votes of hired repeaters, was developed in the Legislature of that State, a few days ago, by the introduction of a bill to change the time of holding State elections for all officers, except Congressmen and Presidential electors, from the Tuesday after the first Monday in November to the first Tuesday in October, for the purpose, of course, of avoiding the United States election law.

A St. Louis special to the Cincinnati Gazette, March 1st, says: The Copperheads won another victory in the Legislature today, the bill providing for an election to determine whether a Constitutional Convention shall be called having passed the House by a vote of 71 to 44, being one man more than a Constitutional majority. The election is to be held on the first Tuesday in May. It is not believed this bill can pass the Senate, but even though enough Liberals, who were elected on a tacit understanding they would favor such a bill, can be got to vote for and carry it, it is still the opinion of the Republicans that it can be defeated before the people. The Democrats have shown such a partisan spirit during the session, and developed so many schemes for obtaining party power, regardless of the welfare of the State, that the people are becoming aroused to the true condition of affairs, and the result will be the thorough uniting of the two wings of the Republican party, and the defeat of all measures which come before the people having partisan purposes in view.

PERSONAL NOTES.

A Liverpool journal is authority for the story that a wealthy Englishman, Thomas Dutton, recently deceased, left £2,000 in his will to the family of the late Gen. R. E. Lee.

At Houlton, Me., the late Gen. Magruder is still remembered as the inventor of a new method of mixing julips. That is, indeed, a novel mode of keeping a man's memory green.

A correspondent writes from London that Robert Browning has never made more than $2,000 from all his poems, and that but for a private fortune he would have starved to death.

One Thomas C. Wade, residing near Galveston, Texas, visited Lexington, Kentucky, recently, to call on John Morgan, the once notorious rebel raider, never having heard of his death.

Motley is said to be the most popular American who has ever been in Holland. All classes of people delight to honor him because of the eloquence and justice of his "Dutch Republic."

Philip James Bailey, author of "Festus," who has almost disappeared from the literary world, is about to surprise the English public with a rhapsody—"Life's Recluse"—in The Gentleman's Magazine.

Garibaldi is reported to have said, if France restore the Napoleonic dynasty, or even put a Bourbon or an Orleanist on the throne, that she will undergo another terrible revolution, and that the streets of Paris will run with blood.

Gen. Braxton Bragg has brought suit against the Government for the recovery of his Louisiana plantation and certain New Orleans bank stocks, confiscated for his active participation in the rebellion. Bragg thinks the United States have no right to interfere in his energetic endeavor to separate them.

A GRATEFUL ACKNOWLEDGMENT.—A. J. The compositor at the next case said to me one day, 'Andrew, you need a tonic; that's what's the matter; and there's no tonic that was ever got up equal to PLANTATION BITTERS. Try 'em.' I have 'tried 'em,' and you are at liberty to state (referring to me for confirmation) that they have restored my health, and, I believe, saved my life."

NEW TO-DAY.

Salmon Street.

WHEREAS, THE COMMON COUNCIL OF THE City of Portland deeming it expedient to extend the street known as Salmon street, from the center line of Twelfth street to the western boundary of the City, did on the first day of March, 1871, direct the City Surveyor to survey said proposed extension, mark the boundaries and make his report containing a plat of said proposed street and its boundaries, and said Surveyor having filed his report with plat, March 8, 1871, which said report has been adopted by Ordinance No. 974, entitled, "an Ordinance adopting the report of the City Surveyor in the matter of the extension of Salmon Street,"

M., April 5, 1871.

The following lots, each thirty feet in width, will have to be appropriated, viz:

Between the north and center lines of Salmon Street; a lot nineteen feet in length, lying between the center line of Twelfth street and the west line of a certain tract owned by J. H. D. Gray, and containing five hundred and seventy square feet.

A lot one thousand one hundred and fifty feet long, lying between the west line of the said Gray tract and the west line of the Chapman land claim, containing thirty-four thousand five hundred square feet;

A lot containing thirty-two thousand one hundred and thirty square feet, lying between the east line of the King land claim and the east line of a certain twenty acre tract of land owned by A. H. Johnson.

A lot containing nine thousand and one hundred and seventy and four-tenths square feet, lying between the east line of the said Johnson tract and the west boundary line of the City of Portland

Cheap water Pipe.

THE ASPHALTUM PRESSURE PIPE COMPANY, of San Francisco, having purchased of the patentees the sole right to manufacture on this coast, are now making an article at their works, at Alameda Point, that will supply the general want of a cheap and durable water pipe. The invention originated in France, where these pipes are extensively used, as well as in Germany; in fact, all over Europe, almost entirely superseding for all ordinary purposes the use of iron. It is a new thing, having been in use twenty years.

Its Durability.

Being imperishable and insensible to atmospheric influences or chemical properties of the earth, it never changes, and is consequently much more durable than iron, which corrodes, and in time leaks.

It is a Non-Conductor,

And will not freeze except at a remarkably low temperature, and even then its expansive power is greater than that of frozen water. In warm weather it acts as a cooler for water passing through it.

Neutrality to Acids and Alkalis.

This pipe is not affected by acids and alkalis, nor is it affected by galvanic currents—consequently is invaluable in conducting telegraph wires under ground through tunnels and under bridges.

Elasticity.

The elasticity of this pipe prevents its bursting from outward shocks or concussions. The interior of the pipes being glazed, are as smooth as porcelain, and consequently are never clogged by adhering sediment.

Lightness.

The mean weight of these pipes is from its as one to five, which not only facilitates handling, but reduces the cost of transportation.

Laying the Pipe

Is a simple matter—can be laid by any laboring man of ordinary intelligence; but the Company, if required, will always furnish a competent person, free of expense, to oversee the proper laying of the pipe. Contracts taken for any required length of pipe from water or mining companies, and warranted to stand according to contract.

Pipe Under Pressure

Can be seen at the office of the Company. We are the only parties manufacturing this pipe on the Pacific Coast under this patent. All other offered is spurious and an infringement.

Cheapness.

The cost when laid, including connections, is about one-quarter that of lead and one-half that of iron.

We manufacture this pipe to lengths of twelve feet, and ship it everywhere, by all sorts of conveyance—no special care being required. We manufacture it of any size from one to twelve inches.

Pressure.

We manufacture according to the pressure required from 1 to 600 pounds to the inch, and guarantee it to stand the pressure.

Prices

1 inch, 10 cents per foot
2 inch, 20	"	"
3 inch, 30	"	"
4 inch, 40	"	"
5 inch, 50	"	"
6 inch, 60	"	"
8 inch, $1 00	"	"
10 inch, $1 25	"	"
12 inch, $1 50	"	"

For pipe capable of resisting a pressure of 150 lbs to the square inch.

This pipe being made of a combination of paper, canvas, and asphaltum, in lengths of twelve feet, should not be confounded with moulded asphaltum pipe in lengths of four feet.

CITY.

A SKIFF RIDE DOWN THE WALLAMET.—Three Shakellians made an adventurous voyage down the Willamette from Weston to Oregon City in a skiff, last Thursday. They missed the steamer at Salem, and went over to Weston expecting to meet the boat from Salem. Failing in that they procured a skiff and started for Oregon City. They left Weston at half past twelve and arrived at Oregon City at a quarter before six P. M. The voyage was easy and pleasant until the party reached Rock Island. Two of the voyagers got out above the rapids, and one, more adventurous than the rest, came through with the skiff all right. Below the rapids all three again got aboard and started for Oregon City. The trip from there down was safe enough until they entered the basin above the basin. From the head of the canal to the warehouse to the P. T. Co's warehouse the decent was artificial. The waves rolled mountain high, as opposed to the voyagers, but after entering the upper end of the canal there was no stopping them. When they reached the warehouse. By skilful management they landed all safe by the side of one of the Company's boats, just above the Oregon City mill, but not without great risk. Inexperienced persons are very foolish to make such a trip. With the utmost skill of the most experienced river man the voyage is perilous, and where there is a sea as a skiff is used, none other should attempt it.

BEATING A PERSONER.—In the case of the State of Oregon vs. Daniel Norden, a policeman, for an assault upon John Krieger, tried before Justice Chapman, of the North Portland Precinct, the defendant was found guilty of an assault and battery, and the 3d of April fixed for fixing the punishment. The court said in rendering judgment that, while the question of the legality of the arrest was involved in this case in making the arrest the authorities did not justify such force as was used in the case. We are informed that Krieger was in this case in making the arrest of the prisoner remonstrated at being pulled over the sidewalk to jail, and proposed to give bail, whereupon he struck him over the head with a heavy cane, and repeated him several times on his way to the station. A brother of Krieger's, remonstrating with the officer, was also struck over the head. Krieger was tried in the Police Court for a violation of the city ordinance, and the jury discharged the case was dismissed. The brother of Krieger was tried in the same court by a jury for assaulting an officer, and was acquitted. The circumstances of this case make it questionable whether Mr. Norden is a suitable person to be continued in the responsible position he now occupies.

ALMOST ESCAPE FROM FIRE.—About 4 o'clock yesterday morning a fire was discovered at the rear end of the Pearl Saloon, lately kept by Jo Hoffman, who is supposed to have drowned himself. A carpenter who was sleeping in his wagon in the adjoining, was awakened by the crackling of the wood on fire, and he raised an alarm. A gentleman who sleeps in the upper story of Block's saddle and harness store, being awakened by the outcry, rushed down stairs and by the judicious application of a few pails of water put the fire. A small pine box filled with saw dust was standing against the end of the house directly under a window in a store room. From the box the fire had evidently originated. The box had burned the siding through from the box up to the window, the lower casement of which was burned through and the glass cracked. When discovered the fire was making headway in the timber both out and inside. The circumstances and the situation of things point to the conclusion that the fire had been started by an incendiary, though it is possible that a lighted cigar might have been thrown in at the lower hole into the saw-dust, and the fire thus kindled. In either case there was a narrow escape from a serious fire.

THE MILITARY SPIRIT CONTAGIOUS.—A correspondent writes us from the Grand Ronde Reservation, about various matters, and among other things says: "We have a remarkable breaking out of a 'military spirit' among the Indians, which, he says, seems to have 'flowed out from the Commissioner,' expanding and extending over all and into and reaching river, till it has finally reached the Siwash souls of the remnant of this Reservation." Our correspondent says that the rush of braves for "old Grant, the father, and 'sinchee,' has been great, and that those who once were such 'cusses' they soldiered for Uncle Sam, are 'corrupted.'" One old fellow called 'Jim,' the famous Chief of the Wapatos, and an ex-convict from the Penitentiary, made application to a gentleman who still possessed a horse, offering to pay a good price therefor, and was much disgusted when told that 'Jim' had a mind, but he seems to have some of his white brethren, that thinking to be a military man, in the piping times of peace.

THE MILITIA OF THE STATE.—Col. Dennison, Adjutant General of Oregon, has just completed a census of the enrolled and organized militia of the State, from which we get the following information:

The whole militia numbers 19 general and staff officers. Of artillery, there are, officers and men, 97; of cavalry, rank and file, 138; total, 235.

The whole militia belongs to the several counties as follows: Baker, 545; Benton, 650; Clackamas, 1,125; Clatsop, 117; Columbia, 119; Douglas, 1,153; Grant, 235; Umpqua, 231; Jackson, 780; Jo. Lane, 1,037; Multnomah, 2,803; Linn, 1,378; Polk, 639; Tillamook, 57; Union, 197; Umatilla, 539; Washington, 587; Wasco, 178; Yamhill, 769; total, 12,871. Last year the A. G. returned amounted only to 10,000.

DOLLAR GOODS IN THE FIELD.—The "Dollar Store" fad has stirred up quite a furore among the dry goods, and several of them have started in other cities, intending never to be outdone in the way of bargains favorable to the buyer. Mr. G. Raly, at the corner of Front and Yamhill, has created considerable crowds yesterday by filling his show windows with all sorts of articles marked "$1," "75cts," "50cts," &c. We understand other show windows yesterday in which were displayed goods with the magic price "$1." In a few days "dollar stores" will be found everywhere.

INCORPORATION.—Articles of incorporation of the "Oregon Mining Bureau" were filed yesterday with the County Clerk's office, and a copy was filed in the office of the Secretary of State. The trustees are A. P. Dennison, J. M. McCoy, W. Berry, T. J. Carter and R. J. Ladd. The principal office is to be at Portland; capital stock, $50,000; shares, $100. The company proposes to prospect, locate, buy and sell mining lands, water rights and such other property as may appertain to mining in Oregon.

We acknowledge the compliment of a ticket for the OREGONIAN office, into Monday night, after the paper had gone to press. We believe we are indebted to Mr. Thomas Lowney and one or two others, perhaps, to us entitled, for the compliment. The band stopped on Washington street, played "Garryowen" in the Herald, and "The Star Spangled Banner" for the OREGONIAN. The Bulletin office, and the private residences of several gentlemen were similarly favored.

TRACTOR A BRIDGE.—The Bulletin says: On Friday, a bridge above Milwaukie, on the county road leading from that place out past Mill No. 4, of the Oregon and California Railroad, gave way while a team of horses, with a heavy wagon was upon it, precipitating the whole train for a distance of twenty feet. The driver was scarcely injured at all, strange as it may seem, but the horses were very badly hurt, and the wagon totally wrecked.

RAILROAD IRON.—A vessel with something over two thousand tons of railroad iron sailed from Newport, Wales, for this port some time last month. The name of this vessel is the Alderney. Her cargo is coming to Mr Holladay, who will now four thousand tons of rails afloat for this destination.

TEMPERANCE LECTURE.—Rev. W. H. Rogers will deliver a lecture at Good Templars' Hall next Friday evening, on the subject of the "Morning and Victory of the Temperance Cause."

REDUCTION OF PASSENGER FARES.—The N. P. R. R. Co. has reduced the rates of passenger fare to $25 for cabin and $15 for steerage, between Portland and San Francisco.

TO SAN FRANCISCO.—The steamship Idaho will sail from this port at 4 o'clock this afternoon for San Francisco.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

The P. T. Co. is building two steamers—one above and the other below the falls.

The wharf at Clinton's Point is 1,250 feet long, and is one of the finest on the coast.

The Chinese laborers on the grading at East Portland have all been discharged.

A girl baby was left on the front steps of Mr. C. P. Ferry's residence a night or two since.

The steamer Idaho was at Clinton's Point dock yesterday taking freight from the railroad cars.

The Bachelder school house, which has been for some weeks on wheels, was yesterday planted on Fifth street, between Oak and Pine.

The steamer Fannie Troup having been repaired, will resume her place to-day on the route between Portland and Monticello.

Rain commenced falling again last evening as though there had been nothing but a sprinkle before and the winter's supply had got to be furnished.

SPRING OPENING.—Mrs. George H. Clarke, corner First and Washington Streets, having lately arrived from San Francisco, where she has been engaged in selecting a large and complete stock of millinery goods, would announce to her friends and customers, that she is prepared for a grand opening of the same on Monday, March 27, 1871. Employment will be given for two good milliners.

ONLY TWO WEEKS MORE.—The theatrical season, so far as the Bates Dramatic Company is concerned, will end two weeks from this evening. The company intend to then pay a visit to Walla Walla, to be absent about two weeks.

To the Spiritualists of Portland.

For the past five years I have been laboring in the cause of Spiritualism on this coast, and half of the time has been spent in the State of Oregon. I am now anxious to return to the Atlantic States, but owing to not having received the pay for my services as agreed, I find myself far short of the means to take me to the States. And as next Sunday evening will be my last lecture in the State, I ask of you an admission fee, the amount of which will be left to the generosity of the donor. Those that feel able to contribute liberally can hand it to me at the door—those that do not can pay Twenty-five Cents. Mr. Bates has kindly offered the use of the Theater free for the occasion. Lecture to commence at 7½ o'clock.

BENJ. TODD.

East Portland Band.—The members of the East Portland Band will assemble at their Hall on Sunday morning at nine o'clock, sharp, to meet the Portland Band, under the leadership of Messrs. Everest and Green, who have kindly volunteered their services at the funeral of our late member, F. F. Hosford. Services at No. 5 Schoolhouse, Mount Tabor. T. H. PARROTT, Leader East Portland Band.

CARD.

To the Officers and Members of Samaritan Lodge, No. 2, I. O. of O. F.—The undersigned, in acknowledging the receipt of the Resolutions of your Lodge, expressive of the sense of your Lodge upon the death of my late husband, and of sympathy with his bereaved family, desires to give public expression to you of her gratitude for the kind sympathy and the generous aid you and the members of your fraternity gave in caring for my husband in his sickness, and in consigning his mortal remains to the tomb. I commend you and your fraternity to the All Wise Creator of the Universe, that He may prosper you in your work of charity, and make your order the means of shedding the light of sympathy and hope upon the gloom of many afflicted households. With sentiments of esteem, I remain gratefully yours,

Mrs APOLLONIA PHILLIPPI.

DOWN BY THE SOUNDING SEA.

PORTLAND, March 21, 1871.

MR. EDITOR: A week ago to-day I started down the river to get my first view of the great Pacific ocean. We had a high wind and storm ahead, but the sense of having a strong boat, comfortable cabins and skillful officers, made a floating home of the Dixie Thompson. En route received from Capt. Snow every possible or desirable civility. Arrived at Astoria I had the enjoyment of a splendid room and luxurious bed at Prigoni's. Next day went down the bay in a sloop rigged scow, that being the only feasible means of transportation to the cape, my destination. We had on board a detachment of soldiers to be landed at Fort Stevens. The scow came to anchor in heavy swells and sent a boat ashore. The sailor who had the oars reached the wharf without difficulty, but was over an hour and a half in getting back against the howling wind and breaking waves. We finally, however, got away and made sail for the cape, the wind blowing in squalls and everybody getting very wet. The cape reached, I visited the lighthouse on the point, for the express purpose of getting a fair view of old ocean, and I need not say that I got it. There could be no better place for such an outlook, as the hill is several hundred feet high and the breakers come right in and dash themselves into spray against its perpendicular walls of rock. I received here every desirable attention and kindness from Mr. Munson and wife who keep the lighthouse, and was permitted to go aloft and examine the wonderful arrangements of light, oil pump, French glass for throwing light out upon the sea.

From the point of the hill, one can easily see (with a glass) the Columbia current going out and meeting the current or swell from the northwest, the meeting producing a great commotion, frequent concussions and great upward jets of white spray. The scene is one of the grandest I ever looked upon, and I stood for hours there, with awe upon me, gazing upon the turbulence of wind and mountain waves. I was interested in observing all the sights and wonders and indulging in every opportunity of being tossed upon the "raging main." On one occasion, while crossing from Cape Disappointment to Astoria, I confess that I got more wind swelling billows than I had bargained for, or than was at all agreeable, especially between the Cape and Sand Island. The little boat pirouetted first on one end and then on the other, and then balanced all around till I was not certain whether she was inside out or outside in. There was one land lubber who wished himself ashore. If the sailors thought me a swab I shall not quarrel with them. Thanks to the Gray Brothers, I sat down alive and hungry that evening to a bounteous supper at Megler's. Nothing daunted, however, I made the trip to the Cape and back again next day.

On the way up yesterday, on board the Dixie Thompson, we stopped ten minutes at Kalama, where a crowd of idle men stood on the bank, and where very primitive houses seem to be multiplying, without regard to the various opinions entertained of the future of the city. Allow me to say that I know of no trip which can afford in so short a time as is required to make this one, so much variety, adventure and grandeur of scene.

Business and population seem to be increasing all along the river and its tributaries. Lands are in demand and progress is the order of the day.

Most of the vessels that have left here within the last two or three weeks are still inside the bar on account of the unprecedented rough weather which has prevailed at sea. G.

AMUSEMENTS.

MATINEE.—At the 2 o'clock matinee to-day, the drama of "Ireland as it is" will be performed.

ONE FINE THEATER.—Fanchon, the Cricket, was reproduced last evening very effectively. Miss Ingles made very much more of the character of Old Fadet than on the previous evening, having evidently caught some of the right inspiration. Her performance was frequently applauded. The other characters were personated in much the same manner as on the previous evening. The popular and always attractive tragedy of "Lucretia Borgia" will be performed to-night—Mrs. Bates as Lucretia, and Mr. Bates as Gennarro.

Trust what Time has Sanctioned.

The maxim that the voice of the people is the voice of the divinity, may in some cases be open to doubt, but the testimony of honest and enlightened witnesses extending through a series of years, and all to the same purport is worthy of credence, admits of no question. Upon such testimony the reputation of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters as an antidote and cure for many ailments is based. During the twenty years that it has been before the world, innumerable pretensions intended to compete with it, have gone up like rockets and came down like the extinguished sticks. Meanwhile the progress of that incomparable tonic has been swift and steady—always upward and onward like the eagle's flight. Its introduction produced a revolution in therapeutics, and it proved to be one of those salutary revolutions that cannot go backwards. To-day Hostetter's Bitters is one of the most popular remedies in christendom, and commands a larger sale than any other medicinal preparation, domestic or imported, on this side of the Atlantic. As a cure for dyspepsia, bilious disorders, nervous affections, general debility, and as a preventive of epidemic fevers, it takes precedence of every other remedy. This fact should teach the ambitious country druggists who endeavor to foist their local abortions on the public in its stead, how futile their small attempts to cajole the community must necessarily be. Where the game fish have baited there is no chance for the "suckers."

Thoughts Suggested by Fossil Remains.

[Exhibited by Mr. Condon, at Philharmonic Hall, March 21, 1871.]

Awake! ye echoes of the slumbering Past!
Ah, need I say awake? Right here
With your mute eloquence you speak,
Arousing mind and might.
Far in the misty distance, I can see
These new surviving relics of the mammoth Age
Transformed to life and vigor.
And I, too, can see, but in a vision; darkly,
The young Earth as she was when thy huge bulk
O'er trod the sodden mire,
And fed on mammoth herbage.

A vapor, dense and deep,
Called darkness in our sacred history,
Ruled all the landscape then.
Mountains were not brought forth, but nestling
In quickened state within the pregnant Earth,
Awaiting their full time, thy strength and substance drew
From Chaos and Confusion.

Meanwhile the sleeping Earth
Sustained upon her bosom the many forms of life
Pertaining to that Age, disclosed to us by fossils,
Gnashing the giant grasses and luxuriant ferns,
And munching fruits pre-Adamite,
Thy sluggish life,
(Taking no note of Time, for Time was not)
Lived out its wise allotment.

When the darkened Earth shook with maternal throes
When mountains were brought forth;
A long volcanic period, no trace of life is found,
The rumblings of that Age, the thunders, vapors, fires,
And groaning of a world in labor,
Upheaving mountains vast, and grand volcanoes
Forming piles on piles of molten lava,
Cooling as it flowed from out the unchorgared Earth,
Affrighted or destroyed thy kind.

Age after Age rolled on,
Earth rested from her throes,
And life again, in forms diversified
Upon her bosom moved.

Dry land and Light appeared,
And step by step we trace with awe and reverence,
The links and gaps between the Past and Present.
Ah, what, indeed is man! that he should solve
The problems of the Infinite! Immortal man,
Whose toil rewarded is by these researches
Through the countless Ages of the slumbering Past!
Like you, Oh, Mammoth, and like you, Oh, Mastadon,
He, too, shall pass away.

MRS. A. J. DUNIWAY.

GENERALITIES.

"Creature comforts"—Good wives.

An imaginary quantity—A lady's age.

A common difference—A matrimonial squabble.

Men milliners are doing a good business in San Francisco.

A good housewife's affairs are like a motion to adjourn—"always in order."

Two Terre Haute ladies recently pawned their babies for a coupe of drinks.

A young man's affections may not be strong; but it is sure to be miss-placed.

"What is home without a mother?" as the young girl said when she sent her mother out shop wood.

A one-legged Indianapolis girl dances a Virginia reel on crutches to the admiration of all beholders.

The ladies give as a reason for marrying for money, that they now seldom find anything else a man worth having.

A Richmond woman asks for a divorce, stating that she had not seen her husband since he had murdered her father.

A lady dressmaker horrified her the other day by telling her she would "cut her body in the course of the afternoon.

The women advocates comfort themselves with the belief that all the girls want to vote, but they are too weak-minded to confess it.

A white boy asked a young negro what he had such a short nose for, "I 'spects so I won't poke itself into other people's business."

A girl in Grand Rapids, Mich., being forbidden to chew gum any more, is now suffering with the lock-jaw. She should have "greased off."

A champion "knittist" of Vermont is Mr. H. Orcutt, of South Barton, who knit in three hours nine double mittens, men's size one an hour.

"Waves," remarked the contemplative man, "are as deep as the blue waters of yon ocean are, sir," rejoined the disappointed man, "and as full of crafts."

It is said that some of the female clerks in the Treasury Department who only get seven dollars a week wear shoes with gold tassels which can't cost less than sixteen dollars.

A good woman in Bucks county, Pennsylvania, is very much annoyed because quite unaccountably one of her twins, just born, proves to be a mulatto, while the other is white.

The New York Ledger says cutely as to the question of original sin: "Twenty years ago we knew all about it. But as we grow older, we find that on that subject our faculties fail."

Mrs. Post, the Wyoming woman leader, is described as an earnest ungrammatical woman, who has an awful skill for putting the end of a new sentence into the weak middle of a previous one.

An Eastern paper, in a fit of revolutionary enthusiasm, says: "Hurrah for the girls of '71!" "Thunder," cried a New Jersey paper. "That's too darned old! No, no! Hurrah for the girls of '71!"

Hereafter, no one will be received into good society in New York whose wedding cards are not sealed with wax and stamped with the family crest. Engravers keep family crests on hand.

Asking a young lady what her accomplishments are is, generally speaking, harmless enough; still, in these days it might in some cases cause embarrassment to put the question, "Do you paint?"

A Boston paper says that Miss Vinnie Ream was to be arraigned by several citizens to that city for the purpose of taking a bust of the brave Major of the State militia, with the intent to carve a statue.

A lady once asked a gentleman what wit was like, to which he replied: "Like your salvolatile's bottle of sol volatile—poignant at the first opening, but on being much handled about it loses all flavor, and becomes insipid."

A young gentleman, after having paid his addresses to a young lady for some time, popped the question. The lady in a frightened manner said, "You scare me, sir." The gentleman did not wish to frighten the lady, and consequently remained quiet for some time, when she exclaimed, "Scare me again."

A North Carolina paper chronicles the existence of a man near Greenville, in that State, who is one hundred and forty-three years old, and having buried his seventh wife some sixty years ago, growing tired of single blessedness, is contemplating an eighth trial.

An ingenious wife in Des Moines cured her husband of snoring thus: She had a gutta percha tube with two cup-shaped ends; one she put over his nose and mouth and the other over his ear. He consumed his own noise, as a stove does its smoke, and woke up instanter.

PACKING EGGS.—A correspondent of the Country Gentleman:—"At Cardington, ninety-six miles south of Cleveland, and a place of about 1,000 inhabitants, more eggs are probably packed for the New York market than any other one town in the West. I visited one cellar where they had 30,000 dozen eggs in pickle, and another establishment in the village had 38,000 dozen in pickle. About 1,500 barrels were shipped in November from that town to New York. One of the egg men there, a man by the name of Marvin, packs eggs in barrels in September and October, using cut straw in the packing, and keeps them till the holidays before shipping to New York. He "candles" the eggs carefully before packing, and heads up the barrels, and turns them the other end up every day. The eggs bought during the month of June, July, and August, are put in vats made of bricks, laid up in water-lime in the cellar; the vats when full being covered with muslin sheets, over which is spread a paste of lime, like thick whitewash. The composition of the pickle used is kept a secret, but has stood the test of several years' trial. Most of the pickled eggs are shipped in November."

Among the entries of the Auburn Industrial Fair were articles presented by ex-Secretary Seward, procured in Mexico and California. There were a gold cigar-case with diamond fastenings, a solid silver writing service, gold snuff-box inlaid with pearls and enamel, a case of Mexican gold coins, and the California cane.
